CATHOLIC CEMETERY, YANKEE SPRINGS TWP., BARRY CO., MICHIGAN

This old burying ground is on the town line road between Yankee Springs and Orangeville Townships, a few rods west of the County road C-611. A fence, now broken down, at one time enclosed this little plot. Bushes etc show where graves are, or were, but the only tombstones are within the wire fence which encloses the Duffy family lot. For many years the only stone was that of Bridget Duffy but in the summer of 1940 the other three were set up. The following excerpt from a letter written Nov. 21, 1940 to me (Ruth Robbins Monteith) is all that I have been able to learn of the history of this old cemetery.

"Prehaps that is one of the oldest cemeteries in the Co. and it was a Catholic cemetery. There use to be a log Church right East of the Cemetery. I have seen it and been in it when I was a boy. I attended one funeral there and that was the old lady Duffy over 50 years ago. And there is probably 15 or 20 bodies there but I do not know the names of all of them there is 5 of the Duffy family there 3 girls and Mr.& Mrs.Duffy and there is one Oconner girl and maybe two. And there is a man buried there by the name of Ronan. And there is a man there by the name of Beard. I think and there is 2 or 3 babies burried there but I do not know their names.

Yes I think there were bodies burried there before Bridget Duffy in 1851. The Priest use to come From Kalamazoo and hold meetings there in an early day.

There is 4 of the Duffy family Burried in the Protestant Cemetery at Yankee Springs.

The youngest Duffy Boy is living and is a man 80 yrs old but hes not at home and if he lives to get home he can give me more information. ---- Some of the bodys have been taken up from this Cemetery and taken to Kalamazoo."

Inscriptions were copied in June 1938 and Sept. 1940 by Ruth Robbins Monteith.
